Library Displays New Attractions

New faces and displays may be seen in the Taylor library. Kan Ori, a transfer from the Fort Wayne library staff and Jim Robertson, a Taylor junior have added their help to the library staff.

In the library lobby may be found a display of authentic Korean objects of art. These objects were loaned by Miss Thomas, the Magee-Campbell housekeeper who was a missionary in Korea before the War.

Several paintings by Mr. Patton and various art students are on display in the ground floor corridor. This collection of paintings will be changed periodically throughout the year. The library record rooms are open each night from 8:00 until 9:00 p.m. Students and faculty are invited to use these facilities.

The librarian, Alice Holcombe, is proud to announce that 15 new books have been added to the library collection this year.

World Premiere Of Taylor's New Film to be Held

Clifton Macklin

Clifton Macklin, portrayer of Sammy Morris in "Angel in Ebony," will appear in person for the premiere showing of the film which will take place in Maytag gymnasium Saturday evening, Oct. 2 at 7:30 p.m. The lead in this unusual film is a young negro college student in Chicago.

"Angel in Ebony," a missionary emphasis film, is the true-life story of Sammy Morris, an African prince, whose miraculous conversion in the jungles of Africa began a series of events that were to alter the course of Taylor University and transform the lives of those he met.

Jungle scenes, actually taken in Africa, and authentic, period costumes highlight the 45-minute dramatic presentation. Produced by Missions Visualized, Inc., of California, the picture is non-promotional. Everyone is urged to see this inspiring story in its first showing.

Dr. John Wengatz has written a compilation of the three books previously written on the life of Sammy Morris. The compilation is entitled "Sammy Morris, The Spirit-Filled Life," and is available at the Taylor Bookstore. Dr. Wengatz will also be on campus for the premiere showing.

Students who have contact in areas in which "Angel in Ebony" may be booked for premieres, are encouraged to contact the Public Relations office. Three copies are available for premiere showings until April 1, 1955. Dave and Becky LeShana will be travelling with one copy and Warren Lewis with another. These two copies will be available in Indiana and Michigan. Wally Good and members of the faculty will have charge of showings of the third copy in nearby communities surrounding Taylor.

Echo Staff Sees New Faces

The Echo staff, with its many new members, includes some departmental editors and columnists.

Jewell Reinhart, an English major from Ohio is our News Editor. She is a Senior transfer from Bob Jones University. In her high school she became well acquainted with news reporting, and continued to beat deadlines when she attended Dennison University in Granville, Ohio.

Most of the older students know our new sports editor. John Terrell faces his new position with considerable experience. In New Lebanon, Ohio where he attended high school, he was sports editor of the school paper. In his Senior year he edited the school annual. He also meets one of the qualifications for his position by being interested in sports.

The new Feature Editor is a sophomore—Charlotte Justice, of Upland, Indiana. She worked a great deal with her sister, Carmen Wilks, who was the Feature Editor last year. That was very valuable training for her. She therefore approaches her new position with renewed self-confidence.

Taking over Bill Coburn's current events column is a comparatively new face on Taylor's campus—Bob Gilkinson of Brooklyn, New York. It appears to be an established fact that he obtains his view of national and international affairs from his comprehensive reading of two daily papers. Bob is a second-semester freshman.

Taylor Represented At NSA Congress

Ames, Iowa. — Student representative from more than 250 American colleges discussed campus, national and world problems affecting student interests at the Seventh Annual National Student Congress, August 22-31.

While convened at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, the Congress reviewed and established basic policies for the U. S. National Student Association, world's largest non-Communist student federation.

Among those registered at the Congress were: Joe Kerlin, Student body President of Taylor, and William Coburn, Jr., Editor of THE ECHO.

The theme for this year's Congress was "The Responsibilities of Freedom." Specific topics for discussion included the effect of the Supreme Court's segregation ruling on colleges, means of improving student self-government in the United States and methods of strengthening non-communist student movements abroad.

Action was also taken to negotiate the formation of an independent national editor's group to meet the problem of censorship in the student press.

Called the National Association for a Free College Press, the new group hopes to provide a mechanism for investigation of alleged breaches of editorial freedom in the college press, and for reporting its findings throughout the country.

The group has been organized with a national executive committee, representing a wide geographic distribution of college newspapers. Among the editors working on the organization's establishment is William Coburn of the Taylor University ECHO.

Plans call for the Association to enlist a group of leading professional editors and publishers throughout the country as an advisory board to the national organization.

Pep Squad Named to Lead Cheering

There will be a five-member pep squad to cheer Taylor's team on to prospective victories this year. Mel Shy will take the masculine lead. Adding their pep and vigor will be Joyce Lister, Sandy Brannon, Elaine Shaffer and Nancy Cimballo. Both Joyce and Nancy have had previous experience leading Taylor yells.

Lacour to Deliver Matriculation Address

Lawrence Lacour, Methodist evangelist from Des Moines, Iowa, and a member of the Taylor Board of Directors, will bring the Matriculation Day address in ceremonies recognizing the opening of another school year.

At this convocation Taylor will confer on Lacour the degree Doctor of Divinity in recognition of his outstanding success as evangelist and counselor in churches and schools throughout the United States. Lacour has just returned from a three month tour to Japan where he directed the work of 40 ministers and laymen in an evangelistic effort establishing new churches.

Matriculation exercises are a medieval academic tradition in which students and faculty members accept the responsibilities of the pursuit of knowledge. President Evan Bergwall has stated that Taylor regards this occasion especially significant as a time of dedication for a school where emphasis is placed on the combination of Christian character and the achievement of high scholastic standards.

Music Department Sees Expansion

Mrs. Howard Cecil of Muncie has recently been added as the fifth member of Taylor's Music Department. Because of this year's crowded condition, the Music Department has been forced to expand.

Mrs. Cecil, known to Taylorites for a long time, is qualified to teach both piano and voice. She will instruct from twelve to fifteen vocal students each Friday.

This new faculty member has been on the staff of Ball State Teacher's College in Muncie and is a member of the High Street Methodist Church.

Students and Faculty Await Fall Revival

Dr. Dale Oldham

Dr. Dale Oldham, pastor of the Park Place Church of God, Anderson, Indiana, has been engaged as the evangelist for the Religious Emphasis Week at Taylor October 3-10.

Dr. Oldham is a trustee of Anderson College and chairman of the board of directors of the Gospel Trumpet Co., publishing house of the Church of God. He is a graduate of Anderson College and Bonebrake Theological Seminary.

Oldham has had a popular ministry among the students at Anderson College as Park Place Church is headquarters for the college as well as the church. Since its beginning in January, 1947, Dr. Oldham has been the main speaker for the Christian Brotherhood Hour, a weekly radio program heard over 175 radio stations.

Which "Queen" Will Highlight Football?

Joyce Lister is one of the pretty girls whom the senior class chose as one of their representatives for home-coming queen. Joyce was in the home-coming court during her sophomore year here at Taylor. Her home is in Marion, Ohio, and her favorite sports are ice skating and swimming. She was asked if she understood football rules and her answer was no, along with most of the other queen candidates who also confessed that they didn't understand very much about football, but enjoyed watching it.

Ramona Ferguson who is from Flint, Michigan, is the other senior girl chosen from her class. Ramona transferred here in her Junior year, from Flint Junior College, and has been a great inspiration to all of us here at Taylor. She came to this University because she wanted to attend a Christian College. Her favorite sport is basketball and one of her favorite past times is sewing.

Carolyn Bailey, a Junior representative for home-coming queen, is a girl who is well liked around Taylor's campus. Her home is in Marshall, Michigan. Carolyn's favorite sport is badminton, and she has a great interest in music. She enjoys attending football games but admits, "It's the hardest sport to understand."

Florence Johnson, another queen, is well known to Taylor for her sweet, quiet ways. Her residence is in Wheaton, Illinois. Florence enjoys playing the piano but mainly for her own enjoyment. Football is one of her favorite sports, although she doesn't fully understand the rules.

Carol Sue Dempster, who is a transfer student from West Chester State Teachers College, was chosen as the queen candidate from the sophomore class. Her favorite sport is basketball and she has a great interest in horse back riding. Carol's home is in Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania. However, her personality fits Indiana extremely well. She is a welcomed addition to Taylor's student body.

Elaine (Bennie) Shaiffer, a transfer student from Wheaton College, came here because she wanted to attend a smaller school. Elaine also represents the sophomore class as candidate for queen. Elaine's home is in Villa Park, Illinois. Her bright eyes enhance the sparkle of this year's royal court.

Carolyn Norman, the girl with the winning smile, was chosen from the freshman class as their queen candidate. It was when she attended Taylor's Youth Conference last year, that she decided to attend this University. Swimming is her favorite sport and she finds great pleasure in music. Her home is in Indianapolis. It's interesting to note that Carolyn understands football rules and procedures exceptionally well...for a girl.

Rosemary Hayes, is a girl whom Taylor is proud to have not only for her sweet disposition, but also for her vocal talent. Rosemary is from Marion, Indiana. She has also had the honor of being a queen in her senior year at High School.

Ambassadors to Germany

It was on the fifth of July that we, of the Ambassador's Quartet, landed in the port of Bremerhaven, Germany. Our dream of singing the Gospel in the land of Luther had now become a reality. Our many deputational services and numerous preparations were now completed. The Lord had miraculously provided our every need and had opened widely the doors which led us into service for Him. Our hearts were a bit frightened to think that we, Tom Wells, Kenn Gangel, Bill Yoder and John Terrell, had been called by our Lord, to help give the sin-sick and dying, a message of eternal hope and salvation through the Lord Jesus Christ.

We were met at the port by Helen MacElerny Barth, Singspirations top female recording vocalist, whose husband is V. Pres. of Y. F. C. in Germany, and Rev. Joseph Stump, a Lutheran missionary to India, tentatively working in Germany during the summer months. We were taken to

Y. F. C. headquarters in Solingen and from there, to tent No. 4 in the southern Bavarian district, where we began our first singing in nightly evangelistic meetings.

Rev. Hugo Schrieber, a converted Nazi soldier, was our evangelist, with whom we worked the whole summer. What an inspiration he was to use as he poured out his heart nightly to the people. Although we weren't able to understand what was being said, we could actually feel the presence of the Holy Spirit as he presented the way to Christ.

Every afternoon at 3:00 P. M., a Bible study was held, which

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Greetings --

—in behalf of the ECHO staff. It is good to be back on Taylor's campus, and once again we are happy to be of service to you in the capacity of The ECHO.

As a student newspaper THE ECHO endeavors to promote the aims of the Taylor program and enlighten our clientele, as nearly as possible, to the truth. It is our desire to present a fair and unbiased picture of campus and civic problems. The long standing motto of the ECHO is: "Ye shall know the truth." The heart of our journalistic pursuits is the development of mutual understanding and Christian fellowship among students.

We have the earmarks of a prosperous year together. The phenomena of increased enrollment or the appearance of new personalities on our campus has not been isolated to the inclusion of students alone. Some of this "new life" atmosphere, to be sure, extends from the ranks of the Taylor faculty.

As evidenced, Taylor is now operating to capacity. The limits of quantity have been reached; but the subjectivity of quality hampers the evaluation of our expansion program in that light. The quality and depth of our education, however, will be determined by the degree to which we accept the guiding principles of our university.

There is no higher calling than the mission of an integrated Christian college. There have been too few people cognizant of such a mission at Taylor. Much credit, however, is due to the Taylor Foundation, alumni, administration, and council members in effecting the present program of expansion. We, as students, must also learn the importance of reciprocating what Taylor has done for us.

This weekend marks the arrival of many alumni and friends on campus. Let's make it a real coming home for them.

Prexy's Pen Points

Permit me to start my first article in the Echo, with a bold, underscored statement of welcome to both returning students and new students. We're very happy you are here. We trust, former students, that you have had a most wonderful and profitable summer and that we together start a new year with our eyes fixed high upon the goals which God has set for us.

There are a few things that are significant for us as we enter this new year together. We want you to know that our enrollment is up—as I am dictating this we have 521 students, including ten children in the Music Department. This means that in terms of full-time students we are up between 20 and 25%. Our housing is completely filled, even to overflowing. We hope that this problem can be remedied before another year is over, or else we will have to limit enrollment at Taylor.

"ANGEL IN EBONY"

Permit me to share with you my impressions from the new film which Taylor is sending forth under the title, "Angel In Ebony." We have all been exceedingly thrilled as we have read the life of Sammy Morris, and have had a very keen picture in our minds about this Spirit-filled life. But now as this life comes before us on the screen in beautiful colors and with excellent sound, the thrill is even greater. Here is a little African boy, relatively uneducated in his own country, but so motivated by his desire to know more about God and to serve Him that he overcame obstacles, even that of a great ocean, to come to America and here to be educated. Taylor is fortunate that Sammy Morris came to this educational institution. Although his life was spared for only a year here, what has grown out of that life is literally, a miracle. Africa and other mission fields have many, many missionaries there because of this young man whose life was completely surrendered to God. How much more ought we be able to do, with our many God-given talents and the many material blessings surrounding us!

OFFICE OPEN FOR COUNSELING

A final word, students. Let it ever be known that the President's office is open to you at all times. We have counseling services provided for you in the dormitories and in the Dean of Student's office; I do not seek to have you by-pass these channels of counseling, but my office is always open to greet you and to help you in any way that I can be of service. May God's abundant blessing be upon each of you as you give of your best to the duties that lie before you, and to the Christ who loves you.

Taylor Tries New Remedial Reading System

First and second graders are not the only ones learning to read these days. Taylor University is starting a program of reading improvement for freshmen students who show evidence of need in a comprehensive reading exam.

In past experience here at Taylor, it may be recognized that a certain percentage of students entering college is lacking in reading ability. Therefore, the course will be compulsory for freshmen during the first semester, and it will be offered in connection with the required course in freshman composition, without extra credit. During the second semester it will be continued on a volunteer basis and will be open to upper classmen.

Dr. Hildreth Cross, Professor of Psychology and Education, will be in charge of the class, assisted by Dr. Hazel Butz, Associate Professor of English. Dr. Cross has recently returned from a summer workshop at the University of Chicago which dealt with problems of reading. Dr. Cross stated that there is a possibility the course will be made available to residents of the surrounding communities during the second semester.

While this program is being started as an experiment, Dr. Milo Rediger, Academic Dean at Taylor, suggested that it may lead to a change in the entire curriculum of freshman studies in speech, grammar and literature.

WARP AND WOOF

It seems rather late to offer a welcome to the new students; but, since this is the first utterance from this column of this publication, a hearty felicitation is hurriedly extended. No longer is it a secret that the fellows are extremely loquacious concerning the feminine beauty that stalks these grounds. More important, to say the least, and certainly more subtle are the potentialities that more serious-minded students and faculty members have envisioned in the "Great Invasion" of 1954. The one pitfall in the ensuing months will be for the freshmen to think that from great potentialities, useful service is automatically dispensed. A sense of unity and hard work alone, my dear Watson.

WATCH THE ATTITUDE

Much can be said about why freshmen win or lose in college. One important factor is that the green ones expect more of college than they get in the way of recognition. For example: Frank Freshman was class president and captain of the F. B. at Shantytown High, a school with 450 enrollment. He came to T. U. expecting to have at least the equivalent of offices but found there were 22 class presidents from other schools (some with 2000 enrollment) and eight other football captains. What a letdown!

It's all in the attitude. Before you've thrown in the towel, determine the rightness of your attitude. In fact, let the towel wipe the perspiration from your brow as you pitch into the job to be done.

HELP!

Very rarely will this column be written without some mention of the Leland Meier Memorial Student Project. Right now we need money and muscle, but mostly muscle. We need it direly this week, too. See Bob Hankins or Brad Moore to find out what You can do.

I read with interest an article in the August issue of "The Reporter" which all of us could afford to read—and mentally answer. The title was "Piety along the Potomac." In keeping with that magazine's extremely liberal position, it liberally debunks any semblance of Christianity as displayed by our political leaders. It's in the library and worth your attention.

I trust that our conversations together will be profitable and thought-provoking this semester through this column. I hope that there will be things said which you like and things which you dislike. If you're with me on all points, you're too wishy-washy. Or maybe, too Taylored.

Trojans Seek Homecoming Victory Over Ravens

Taylor Falls to Indiana Central

The Indiana Central Greyhounds defeated Taylor last Saturday at the Trojan's home field by the score of 26-0.

Taylor received the opening kick-off but were held for three downs and had to punt. A fumble by Central put the ball in the hands of the Trojans but once more they couldn't pick up a first down. On the first play from scrimmage, after receiving the punt on the Taylor 40, Central scored on a 20 yd. pass play to Nyers. The try for the extra point failed.

The second quarter also found the Trojans offense gaining very little and only the excellent punting of C. P. Tarkington, and a timely intercepted pass by Tom Lockwood, kept the Greyhounds at bay. However, a few minutes before the half ended, Central recovered a Taylor fumble on the 50 and after a sustained drive to the 10, Nyers went over again. The try for the extra point failed and the score remained 12-0, as the half ended.

The third quarter Taylor kicked off and the Greyhounds scored once again on a sustained drive from their own 30. The kick for extra point was blocked by Curtis. A few minutes later a Taylor fumble was recovered by Central on the 50, and the Greyhounds marched down the field, with Woods making his second touchdown. The kick for the extra point was wide; the score reading 24-0. A high center, later in the third quarter, went over the head of a would-be Trojan punter. And a...Central player fell on the ball in the Trojan end-zone for a safety. This proved to be the end of the scoring in the game with Indiana Central leading 26-0.

The fourth quarter was for the most part a see-saw affair. The dead-locked play, however, produced a thrilling run by freshman quarterback Tom Lockwood. Lockwood took the ball on an optional play on his own 20 and got to the Central 20 before being stopped from behind by Nyers. The Trojan's offense bogged down once more, with the score remaining 26-0.

Hoosier Conference Set-up Told

(For the benefit of new students and anyone not familiar with the athletic conference of which Taylor University is a member, the following is reprinted.)

The Hoosier Conference was formed in 1946-47 by a group of church-affiliated colleges in the State of Indiana, who felt that the large Indiana Intercollegiate Conference was too extensive and not properly balanced.

Schools constituting the conference are: Anderson College of Anderson, Indiana; Franklin College of Franklin, Indiana; Hanover College of Madison, Indiana; Indiana Central College of Indianapolis, Indiana; Manchester College of North Manchester, Indiana; Earlham College of Richmond, Indiana; and Taylor University.

The conference calls for participation in seven intercollegiate sports—four major sports—football, basketball, track, and baseball; and three minor sports—cross country, golf and tennis.

Conference championships are determined by a point system. There is a champion for each sport and an over-all champion of all sports. Three points are given for last place, six for next to last and so on up to 21 points for first place for major sports. In the minor sports one point is given for each place. In order for a school to be eligible for the championship they must play not less than four other conference foes in football, each school twice in basketball, each school twice in baseball, while the track champion is determined by the Hoosier Conference track meet.

For tennis, each school must be played at least once. Other minor sports are determined by conference meets.

The Athletic program at Taylor for 1954-55 is well under way and from the attitude of many we would have to surmise that we are in for a "nothing" year at Taylor. However, before we mark Taylor off the winner's ledger in all sports let's remember that this year will be just what YOU, the students of Taylor, make it to be. The enthusiasm of the students, all the athletes, the bench, and good hard work can make up the gap we lack in experience and all-all players. Remember Coach Odle's words, "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits."

The Student Project is still uncompleted. Note the thermometer in front of the Campus Book Store and you will see we have a lot to do yet. This project was started last year by the students, for the students and we are each one anxious to see it completed. Especially the 11 prospective fellows who are going out for tennis this fall. If the committees call on your help do your share for your school.

With Coach Oswalt missing and Coach Granitz expecting to go to the mission field after football season we have two new coaches for this year in Coach Fleser and Ted Wright. Ted comes back to Taylor after a brilliant athletic career that will long be remembered in the Trojan Annals. He would rank high as one of the most outstanding athletes ever to wear the Purple and Gold of the Trojans.

Anyone hearing on radio or seeing the College All-Stars of Indiana play Kentucky's All-Stars must have a great deal of admiration for Forrest Jackson, Taylor's "little All-American" who is setting aside a possibly brilliant career of Pro-Basketball to train for service on the Mission Field. His introduction on the radio was a real tribute to the cause of Christ. On the court he was responsible for the winning basket in the game won by Indiana's College all-stars.

Hats off to everyone that stuck with the Indians this year. Just for the records "Sport" Warden declares he is a changed man this year and ascribes it all to his romance with a nurse this summer.

Keep your eye on Tommy Lockwood, freshman quarterback from Springfield, Ohio. In the Indiana Central game he averaged 9.1 yards per carry and did some beautiful running.

Saturday is the Homecoming game with Anderson. Let's win this one so the home crowd can go away satisfied. With the Pep Club and the "Bench" back of the team, I think we can do it.

All-Opponent Preview Given

EARLHAM

One of the passingest teams in the conference with good passing quarterbacks. Possibly the one team that could beat Indiana Central. They use the split T and play a fine brand of football, but if there is any game the fellows want to win it should be the Earlham game.

HANOVER

A great game last year with us coming out ahead 7-6. They too should prove a worthy foe for our boys, and they have a QB that likes to pass to a couple of fine all-conference ends. It's our last game and if we improve during the year it should prove to be the best game of the year.

ANDERSON

Last year Anderson defeated us 8-0 and they use a combination single wing and T formation offense. It will be our homecoming and the game should be a toss-up.

MANCHESTER

Last year we beat them 19-0 but like Central, Huntington has about the same team back, with a few returning servicemen that played with them before. They added a new backfield coach and they could be very tough when they get going.

FRANKLIN

Another 19-0 score in our favor, but they too have the same team returning. They have begun their rebuilding program and should prove tough. COACH GRANITZ

Tennis Becomes Fall Sport

by Ronnie Shaw

Member schools of the Hoosier Conference voted to play tennis in the fall due to the very crowded spring sports schedule. Taylor will play six matches, all in October. Fred Prinzing, John Petroff, and Wendell True are the only returning lettermen. The new prospects for this fall are Ken Stark, Paul Millikan, Rhodes Hundley, Jerry Marsac, Carl Hofinga, Duane Cuthbertson, and Gene Rupp. This was the largest turnout Taylor has ever had for the Tennis team, which should produce a promising fall of tennis. Anderson, last year's Hoosier by Taylor's first match on the new asphalt courts here at Taylor this Saturday, October 2, at 11:00 a.m.

Taylor Gains Over Rose Poly For First '54 Win

Taylor's Trojans defeated Rose Poly Saturday 12-7 in a non-conference encounter at Terre Haute. The victory evened the Trojans record at one (1) victory and one (1) defeat for the season.

Behind 7-6 with seven minutes left in the fourth quarter, C. P. Tarkington threw a touchdown pass to Nate Price covering forty-one yards. The play came on a fourth down attempt.

After the opening kick-off no one could gain the necessary yardage, and both teams exchanged punts. With Taylor on Rose Poly's thirty-five yard line, Tom Lockwood ran thirty-three yards to the two yard line. Then on the second attempt from the two, Jack Rabine crashed over for the touchdown. Nate Price's try for the extra point was blocked.

Another Taylor drive was halted when Rose Poly intercepted Lockwood's pass. There was no more scoring in the first quarter.

Midway through the second period Rose Poly broke into the scoring column. Bob Young of Rose Poly returned a punt eighty-seven yards down the sidelines for a touchdown. Bill Payne kicked the extra point and Rose Poly led 7-6 at half-time.

Taylor could not get started in the third quarter. Three straight penalties put the Trojans deep in their own territory. Rose Poly took over, but a thirty yard pass play was called back because of a penalty. On the next play, Darwin Nutt intercepted a Rose Poly pass and ran it back twenty yards. But Taylor fumbled twice and could not get a scoring drive started.

The Trojans threatened again on a pass from Tarkington to John Key, but another fumble halted this drive. With Rose Poly on their own twenty-nine with fourth down and two inches to go, they tried to make the necessary yardage. The Trojans strong line stiffened and held them for no gain. After a series of fumbles, Tarkington threw the forty-one yard touchdown pass to Nate Price. The kick was blocked. The Trojans held Rose Poly from scoring with good pass defense and a hard charging line.

The line played brilliantly all afternoon with sharp tackling on defense. "Shaggy" Royer, "Greek" McCluskey, John Key, Norm Brummer, and Nate Price played a hard game on defense. Bob Rapson was hurt in the first quarter, and taken to the hospital with a leg injury.

was a time of spiritual blessing in which many Christians were drawn closer to the Lord thru the study of His Word. We of the quartet were privileged to speak on a few occasions during this afternoon hour, through an interpreter.

The late afternoon children's service was a time when many young children, between the ages of 5 and 15, found Christ as their personal Saviour. Gisela Burklin, a German student at Paris Bible Institute, was the children's worker for the whole summer in tent No. 4. The Lord really used her flannelgraph stories, songs and words to touch the hearts of these boys and girls. After one service, 120 children stayed late to accept Christ as Personal Saviour.

Our tent, with a capacity of 450, was filled for most evening services with many standing at numerous occasions. In one campaign, when "Heathen Rage" was shown, many additional seats were needed, and approximately 900 people were crowded into the tent. It sure gives one inspiration and encouragement to see people who are actually seeking, not only relief from sin, but release from the bonds of Satan.

Bill Yoder played the piano in every service, with Kenn and John playing trumpet-trombone duets. Tom and Kenn shared in the song leading. Besides three or four quartet selections each night, Kenn would often sing a solo. All of our singing was in the German language, but the people seemed to enjoy an English song quite often.

We of the quartet also had a small part in door-to-door evangelism and visitations. Tract distribution is an effective ministry in Germany of which we also had a part.

The fires of revival were rekindled by Billy Graham's meetings in Germany this past year. The people are beginning to look UP and seem to be reaching out for spiritual help to satisfy their heart's need. During the past two and one-half months, we saw over 600 people accept Christ. These results were brought about, not by the quartet, with our faulty singing and pronunciation, but by the Lord, giving answer to the prayers of our friends, here in the States, who held the work, in Germany, up to the throne of Grace.

There were times when we were a bit worn and perhaps a bit homesick, but we felt the powerful and helping hand of the Lord, lifting us up. Germany today, rapidly recovering from the war in most respects, is now a wide open mission field. The message of Christ, as personal Saviour, is unknown to the majority of the German population. Please keep praying for the work in Germany where the Lord is beginning to work in the hearts of many people. The story is the same in the other four tents of Youth For Christ. Many people will continue to find Christ if we, here at home, will continue to pray—and pray.

Dean's Office Has Multiple Function

Dean Uhlinger's office may now be regarded as an employment bureau for any students desirous of work. Already 145 Taylor students have been placed in campus positions. In the Dean's office may be found help-want ads from Marion and soon there will be information of job-vacancies in Hartford City.

The transportation solution seems to lie in the establishment of a local travel bureau utilizing all possible local transportation to the benefit of the working students.

Homecoming Activities

The 1954-55 Homecoming on Oct. 2 at Taylor promises a schedule packed full of interesting events listed as follows 9:30 A.M.—The annual meeting of the William Taylor Foundation is to be held in Shreiner Auditorium, with T. W. Engstrom, chairman of the Board of Directors, presiding. All parents and alumni are welcome to this meeting. At that time one member of the William Taylor Foundation Board of Directors will be elected. Two candidates for the office are Dr. Jesse W. Fox, Chaplain at Parkview Memorial Hospital, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and Earl D. Stickler, who is a member of the United Presbyterian Church, and is a very active layworker in the church and in evangelical Christian circles.

11:30 A.M. A luncheon in Recreation Hall will be held for alumni fund class agents and regional chairmen. Mr. J. J. Gerber of Chicago will speak to the group and John Warner, chairman of the National Alumni Fund Committee will present the program.

12:30 A.M. A seminar for all parents will be held in Shreiner Auditorium. Six committees will lead discussions concerning the following phases of college life: academic, religious, social, cultural, recreational, and industrial.

1:30 P.M.—The Grant County Band will march across the campus and present the colors on the football field. This year instead of having a parade, the Sophomores, Junior, and Senior classes will construct campus displays, each pertaining to the story of Sammy Morris. The Freshman class will construct a display near the football field pertaining to the Homecoming football game. Three prizes of $30.00, $15.00, and $10.00 will be given for the most deserving displays. These prizes are offered by two Alumni board members and the Upland Merchants. The Homecoming Queen's throne will be built by the cultural societies.

2:00 P.M. — The Homecoming Football game is between Taylor and Anderson. Herman Lindland will be master of ceremonies for the halftime program. J. A. Morrison, president of Anderson College, has been invited to offer prayer. The Grant County Band

Art Department Sees Improvements

Since last semester the Art Department at Taylor has undergone a transformation from its location on the second floor of the administration building. Much new equipment has also been added.

The department has already branched out to include facilities for woodworking in its workshop. There is a new electric jigsaw and a new woodworking bench with three vices.

The department has also added a new air brush for use with commercial art work, and a new 18 inch paper cutter.
